PART HAMMERED

Simple ideas are sometimes the best, Turnstyle Designs has now launched a simple but very effective variation on their ever-popular Hammered range of door and cabinet hardware.

Rather than hammering the entire grip as they do for their current range, they have cut back the hammering to just cover the grip area or about one third of the handle. The result is that the beautiful, hand hammered texture is framed between two polished ends and so accentuates the pattern, bringing out the detail even more than before.

“Part hammered” as the new variation is simply known is available in the best selling Barrel range of products, including two styles of door levers, (end hammered or centre hammered), door pulls and Cabinet D handles.

Available in all of the signature company’s plated or patinated finishes, including the beautiful Burnished brass or nickel, Part Hammered is made to order and hand hammered.
